Re: Wastex Research, Inc., Permits

Dear Mr. Baker:

Enclosed is the Agency form that I discussed with you last week which would make the Southwest Port District a signee to all land permits now issued by the Agency for Wastex at its 2000 Broadway facility in East St. Louis. As I see it, the Port District would be ratifying these past permits and would be no more or no less liable than if the Port District had originally signed the application when submitted by Wastex.

The signature of the Port District is required for Wastex's permits under Rule 205(d) of the Pollution Control Board's Solid Waste Rules and Regulations. On the original applications for these permits, Wastex represented that it was both operator and owner of this site.

I do not feel that the signature of the Port District to these permits would increase its present responsibilities at the site. The Attorney General, by its filing suit against you, apparently considers you responsible as an owner for the facility. The Port District's signature will also be required for future Wastex permit applications.

Attached are the Wastex permits now granted by the Land Division of the Agency. I will be glad to answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Stan Parsons
